

Put 'Em in the Right State of Mind

~The Crop Circle Song ~

What ya gonna do when friends come to explore
That's a question getting harder to ignore
Better let 'em in when they're knocking at your door
Halleluja!

Better smile real big and not become a bore
Shaking every hand if twenty and fourscore
Best to not offend, you just never know for sure
You've got to

Put 'Em in the Right State of Mind
Put 'Em in the Right State of Mind
If they look mad you cut 'em slack
They just might be coming back
Put 'Em in the Right State of Mind

If there's quite a few you'd better call the store
Order carry-out or fish for albacore
Better lay a spread like you've never done before
Have another'n

If they BBQ you cook for twenty-four
If they tip a brew I hope you like to pour
If they're dancing fools, then you'd better clear the floor
You've got to

Repeat Chorus

Musical Interlude/Bridge

If they sit a spell and tell their old folklore
Listen closely ~ Do Not Nod ~ and never snore
If they tell a joke, they had better hear you roar
Tell another'n

Don't belabor any difference, I implore
If their breath is bad it's better to ignore
When it's time to leave, part as friends forevermore
If you just

Repeat chorus

If they look mad you cut 'em slack
Cause they just might be coming back
Put 'Em In The Right State of Mind
Put 'Em In The Right State of Mind

Words & Music (c) 1996 Gregor Rice
RiceSound Studios ~ Gregor Rice Publishing ~ BMI
511 East Clear Lake Drive
Fremont, IN 46737
260-495-3211 ~ ieshea@frontier.com