

The Visions of My Heart

This I see in The Visions of My Heart
My heart, my home
What I see is we're not so far apart
We're not alone

Just look into The Visions of My Heart
And you can see them
Just for what they are
I've always had them
I've always known it was
Only a matter of time
Just time

Did you say all the visions of your heart
Have lost their home
Day by day all your visions fade away
And die unknown

You're welcome to The Visions of My Heart
And you can see them
Just for what they are
You say you've lost yours
I have enough for most
Everyone take some of mine
Take mine

Where are our dreams
When we can't find them anymore
Have they been washed up on a shore
Somewhere

I say our dreams
Are worth a lifetime searching for
They're not forgotten evermore
They're still there
Still there
Still there

Know they're still there

This I see in The Visions of My Heart

My heart, my home

What I see is we're not so far apart

We're not alone

This I see in The Visions of My Heart

~ repeat fade ~

Words & Music (c) 1983 Gregor Rice

Arrangement/Performance: Mark Kieswetter ~ Vocals: Lori LeFevre~Johnson

Gregor Rice Publishing ~ BMI

ieshea@frontier.com ~ 260-495-3211 after 11 a.m. ET